

Print Handwriting Practice

Name: _____ Date: _____

My dear Utterson, when this shall fall into your hands, I shall have disappeared. My instinct and all the circumstances of my situation tell me that the end is sure and must be early. Go then, and first read the narrative which Lanyon warned me he was to place in your hands; and if you care to hear more, turn to the confession of your unworthy friend, HENRY JEKYLL